All warranty repairs, replacements and/or rectification works are subject to prior approval by APEG Warranty's Aftersales Department.

Approval of a warranty claim shall be based on the assessment, diagnosis, supporting documents and applicable Terms and Conditions of the warranty policy.

Approval shall not be interpreted as authorisation for repairs or replacement of components other than those specifically approved by APEG Warranty.

Any additional repair or replacement not included in the approved claim must obtain prior approval from APEG Warranty before such works are commenced.v

5. Validity of Repair Approval

Following the submission and assessment of a warranty claim, any approval granted by APEG Warranty's Aftersales Department for repair, replacement and/or rectification shall be valid for thirty (30) days from the date of approval, unless otherwise specified in writing by APEG Warranty.

The approved repair works must commence within the thirty (30) day validity period stated on the Claim Form.

If the repair works have not commenced within the stipulated thirty (30) day period, the approval shall automatically lapse and shall be deemed cancelled and void.

Any repair works commenced after the expiry of the approval period shall not be considered authorised under the original claim approval.

APEG Warranty reserves the right to require a new claim submission, inspection and/or re-assessment before considering any subsequent repair request.

APEG Warranty reserves the right to require a new claim submission, inspection and/or re-assessment before considering any subsequent repair request.

During the twelve (12) month cooling-off period, any subsequent claim relating to the same part or component shall not be considered as a new warranty claim.

However, APEG Warranty reserves the right to assess the circumstances of any subsequent failure, including whether the failure is attributable to a different cause, defect or component.

8. Application of Cooling-Off Period to Other Components

The cooling-off period shall apply only to the same part or component previously claimed, repaired, replaced or rectified.

The cooling-off period shall not prevent the Policyholder from submitting a warranty claim for other parts or components covered under the warranty, subject to the applicable warranty Terms and Conditions.

If an approved warranty claim is made for an air-conditioning compressor, the air-conditioning compressor shall be subject to a twelve (12) month cooling-off period from the date of completion of the previous repair.

9. Repeat Failure and Verification

Where the same part or component fails again following a previous warranty repair or replacement, APEG Warranty reserves the right to conduct further inspection, diagnosis and/or verification to determine the actual cause of the failure.

APEG Warranty may require the vehicle to be inspected or repaired by a different appointed workshop or service centre where deemed necessary to ensure proper diagnosis, workmanship and quality control.

The subsequent claim shall remain subject to the applicable warranty coverage, exclusions, cooling-off period and other Terms and Conditions.

10. Unauthorised Workshop and Repairs

12. Compliance with Claim Procedures

Failure by the Policyholder, vehicle owner, dealer or any other party acting on behalf of the Policyholder to comply with APEG Warranty's claim procedures, workshop assignment, repair approval requirements or prescribed timelines may result in the claim being delayed, partially excluded, cancelled or rejected.
